Maryland rebuilds quickly, starts 15-0

By Laura Borrell

Volleyball

This was supposed to be a rebuilding year.

Maryland, which went 26-5 last year and 16-0 in the Atlantic Coast Conference, lost some seasoned players and with them the chance to repeat as conference champion or to return to the NCAA women's volleyball tournament.

Or so it appeared.

Deane Koester, 1986 ACC player of the year, graduated. Middle hitter Corryn Jabaay-Krewala had a baby in May and wasn't expected to be back in time for the start of the season.

Four team all-ACC outside hitter Elizabeth Efron, after playing for the Argentine national team and having reconstructive knee surgery, had an eligibility left.

For experience, Maryland would have to cling to returning all-ACC setter Eden Kroeger. The Terrapins, picked to finish fourth in the ACC, braced for a long season.

"We were definitely looking at some significant adjustments," coach Patricia Kruger says. "No one really knew how the team would develop this year."

But at 15-0 (6-0 ACC) and ranked 17th, Maryland is off to its best start.

Jabaay-Krewala pleaded for a tryout, despite missing spring training, and powered her way back onto the team. Maryland appealed to the NCAA on behalf of Efron, and she was granted another year of eligibility. Koester returned as a student assistant coach.

"The younger players have come in and just done a better job than we expected," Kruger says. "They have really picked up on the learning process of how to play other teams and give great support to our veteran players."

Just like last year, the Terrapins are winning.

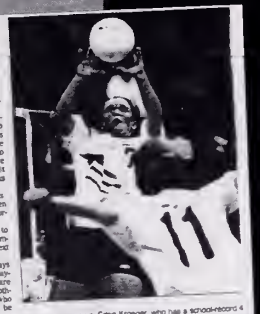
"We didn't expect to snap back like this," Kruger says. "But we're just doing some things better than we expected. We have the drive to continue

Kroeger, who has 4,541 career assists and continues to add to her school record, feels the drive goes deeper. "We have a lot of heart. We don't go into a match thinking we're underdeared. If anything, it makes teams want to beat us even more."

Especially ACC teams. Maryland already has beaten North Carolina, Duke and Florida State.

Some of the real tests are to come, including visits to Clemson and Georgia Tech next weekend.

"We can never relax," says Efron, who has been ACC player of the week twice. "We are always learning about the other teams. What they do, who hits where. We have to be prepared, because everyone is out to beat us."



Expert at serving up: Eden Kroeger, who has a school-record 4 assists, has led Maryland to a No. 17 ranking and unbeaten slate.

MARYLAND PLAYS IN ONE THE NATION'S LARGEST MEDIA MARKETS AND HAS BEEN FEATURED IN SEVERAL NATIONAL PUBLICATIONS.

2000 GRADUATE BETH MURPHY WAS HONORED BY THE ACC, WINNING THE PRESTIGIOUS WEAVER-JAMES-CORRIGAN AWARD.

Here We Come Comcast Center

Maryland's new student activities building and home of Maryland Athletics was completed in fall 2002 and will be the home to Maryland volleyball beginning with the 2003 season. The Comcast Center will serve as a campus site for university special events and select community events.

The Comcast Center will house the university's athletics administration offices and include a 7,000-square-foot Academic Support Center, providing an enhanced study atmosphere for the school's nearly-700 student-athletes on 25 teams. In addition to the 17,100-seat basketball arena, an additional 1,500-seat venue will serve as home to the Terps' volleyball, gymnastics and wrestling teams, and the Nextel Heritage Hall multi-purpose room (capacity 400) will be equipped to host banquets, press conferences, large meetings and serve as a pre-game restaurant suite overlooking the competition floor.

The new arena will be an excellent place for alumni and fans to enjoy their favorite sports and share their common Terrapin spirit. Visitors will learn about the men and women who have made Maryland Athletics great as they stroll through the dramatic Terrapin Walk of Fame and History. And the Terrapin Team Store, located just off the soaring three-level atrium lobby, will allow visitors to outfit their pride. Maryland will once again reclaim the status of having the best student activities center and athletics home in the country.

Experienced Terps Enter 2002 With High Hopes

For the second straight season, Maryland volleyball coach Janice Kruger returns at least 10 letterwinners and four starters to the Terrapins' lineup. In 2001, the lineup was led by three juniors and five sophomores. Now, they have grown into juniors and seniors, respectively. Indeed, experience will not be lacking.

Behind a trio of senior starters in Carey Brennan, Lindsay Davey and Amanda Ayres, Kruger & Co., expect 2002 to mark the Terps' return to the upper echelon of the Atlantic Coast Conference.

In 2002, a similar formula may re-surface as the one that helped Kruger lead Maryland to three consecutive NCAA Tourney bids in 1995, 1996 and 1997. It has been four seasons since that run – and since the Terps' last serious contention for the ACC title – but an all-conference hitter and an all-conference setter may key a Terrapin march.

Brennan, Davey and Ayres have comprised one-half of Maryland's starting lineup for the last two seasons. All-league hitter Brennan will challenge the Terps' all-time mark for kills this season while Davey will move her name alongside former All-ACC setters Eden Kroeger and Nicole Lantagne as the top assist-makers in school history. She hopes to put herself in position for All-ACC honors, as well.

Says Kruger, "Lindsay has positioned herself to be one of the league's top setters. She is absolutely poised to be at her very best. She's setting the ball very well. The strategy is there. She's in a position to really have an impact on our team's success."

The last time that Maryland produced an All-ACC hitter and All-ACC setter on the same squad was during its regular season championship season of 1997. With the help of Ayres in the middle, returning hitters Lynnsy Jones, Jennifer Dewalt and Sarah Treadwell, and contributions from a trio of freshman blockers, the Terps are planning to continue their climb back toward the top of the ACC.

On Ayres, Brennan and Davey, Kruger added, "Our seniors have made it their mission to get us back to the top of the conference. This is their final season and it looks to be their best. The seniors have shown steady improvement and they are in position to play a large role in our team success. We will look to them for strong leadership."

Carey Brennan and Lindsay Davey celebrate.

Setter

Davey begins her third straight season as Maryland's starting setter after connecting with 1,189 assists in 2001. Nearing 3,000 for her career and buoyed by an experienced Terrapin lineup, Davey will direct the Maryland offense. Her task in 2002 is to blend Maryland's experienced outside attack with an interior unit combining Ayres, redshirt freshman Stephanie Smith, and college rookies Jenny Dunn and Rachel Wagener.

"It will take the preseason to fine-tune those connections with some of our newer players and get them into our offense," said Kruger of Davey's ability to blend the attack. "She has experience of running our offensive system, combining the fast tempo and rhythm of a sound combination attack. She understands her role as the playmaker for the team. Lindsay's ability to strategize on her feet will be an important factor as we compete in the tough ACC schedule."

Backing Davey for the second season is sophomore Aimee Huddleston who saw action in nine matches last season as a freshman, and saw her role further defined by significant progress last spring. Her most extensive playing time last season came at North Carolina and NC State on consecutive nights when she posted 12 and 26 assists, respectively, but it was the spring season that provided Huddleston with the needed match experience.

Huddleston gives the Terps a bigger physical presence at setter, and will help strengthen Maryland's block.

"We will use Aimee and Lindsay in combination throughout the season," added Kruger, "but it is primarily Lindsay's job. Aimee will certainly have an effect and an impact based on her strengths. Aimee has become a very viable backup in our offensive system, and a big asset in our blocking scheme. She has a very definite role to play on this team."

Outside Hitter

Technically speaking, Maryland returns two of its top three outside hitters from 2001, with Maria DiLivio expected to redshirt the 2002 campaign.

Primary weapons on the outside are Brennan, the local prep product and second team All-ACC pick last year, and rightside standout Lynnsy Jones who registered 246 kills as a sophomore and should only become stronger this season.

Brennan has notched 310, 441 and 379 kills in successive seasons, and has raised her hitting percentage with each season. As the Terps' go-to hitter last season, Brennan drove the ball at a .258 clip with 3.91 kills per game, sixth in the ACC. Statistically, she is the third-leading hitter in the ACC among returning players.

"Carey is an all-conference hitter that can really frustrate opposing blockers. She is a versatile and mobile attacker and also one of our best defensive players. She is durable and competitive and will be expected to play the role of our offensive go-to player."

Brennan and Jones both should benefit from their continuity together, and with Davey as the Terps' setter for a final season. Jones averaged 2.46 kills per game in 2001, and gives Maryland an outstanding complement to Brennan on the right side of the floor.

"Our point-scoring potential has been improved by a balanced attack. Lynnsy's attack capabilities have made her a valuable hitter in our offense. She has improved her hitting consistency and her ball control. One of her best skills, though, is her jump serve. Her serve is one of the toughest in the ACC."

Dewalt, a sophomore, saw limited action in her first college season, but will factor into the lineup this season. Particularly useful in her game is a 6-1 frame that will be utilized in strengthening the Terps' block and attack. She will combine with Huddleston in role situations at the net.

"Jen's attack is very strong, as is her blocking. She and Aimee can have an impact on our front row defense, helping us to improve our block from the hitter and setter positions."

Lynnsy Jones

Perhaps Maryland's most improved player since last season is another sophomore, Sarah Treadwell, who will also see increased playing time at outside hitter. Last season, she saw time mostly in the back row with her serving and defense, but a productive spring season resulted in an increased vertical jump, improved ball control, passing, and hitting.

Adds Kruger, "With Sarah's physical improvements and her unselfish team play we will look for her to be a solid performer this season."

Added to the arsenal this season is Canadian freshman Stephanie Doiron, who likely will see time in serve receive and defensive situations. But Doiron, according to Kruger, has always found her way into the lineup, no matter at what level of competition.

"Whether it is her strong ball control, her serve or her on-court presence, she will be a valuable member of this year's team. We're looking forward to continuing her volleyball development."

Middle Blocker

If there is a position to be developed, it is at middle blocker. Kruger will look to Ayres to anchor the position vacated by graduated senior Willette Dority who was third in the ACC last season in hitting percentage.

"Our block will need to improve, but we expect exactly that to happen since we're mostly young at that position."

Ayres, a former outside hitter who moved exclusively to middle blocker last season, guides the Terrapin blocking unit despite her 6-0 height.

"Amanda is undersized by most standards as a middle blocker, but we expect her to have her best season so far. Amanda will be expected to help in guiding and encouraging our younger middle blockers. She is a good blocker and a versatile attacker. Her greatest contributions are defensive – blocking in the front row, and passing and playing defense from the back row. We need her to play bigger than she is."

Dority (85) and Ayres (64) led the Terrapins in blocks a year ago. This year, Ayres will command the Maryland middle while helping tutor redshirt freshman Stephanie Smith and a pair of true freshmen: Jenny Dunn and Rachel Wagener. Wagener, at 6-4, may in fact find her way into a starting position based solely upon prep and USA accolades. The highly-touted recruit from Chesapeake, Va., was a second team all-state player in 2001 and was invited to USA volleyball camp as a high school junior.

Ayres, herself, is one of the Terps' most versatile and durable players, having played both outside hitter and middle blocker before assuming her role in the interior beside Dority in 2001. She has steadily raised her hitting percentage each season, and last year participated in all 101 games in which the Terps played.

Smith has vastly improved over the course of the fall and spring of her freshman season, and will enter fall camp alongside Ayres as the incumbent starter.

"Stephanie turned heads with her improvement last spring," said Kruger. "She showed marked changes in her training, her strength and her overall technique. She will continue to gain valuable match experience this season. I am optimistic about Stephanie's future as a middle blocker in the ACC. Stephanie has a great work ethic and her future looks bright at this rate of improvement."

Wagener, however, could also challenge for starting time as the season progresses. The 6-4 Wagener and 6-3 Dunn could join Smith in dramatically changing Maryland's future at the net. The young trio should steadily improve and be a measure for the Terps' success.

"It will be a healthy, competitive environment for our middle blockers. They understand the need to support each other, as they push each other and the team to improve. The team will benefit from these three talents competing daily. All three have different strengths and potentials that vary from one to the other."

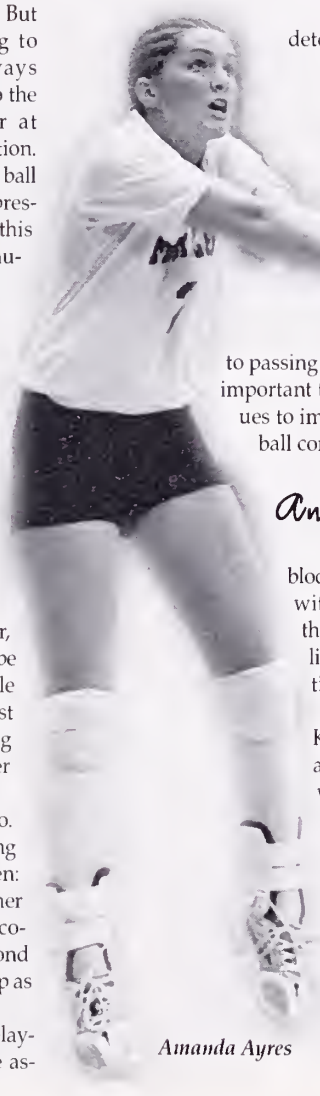
Defensive Specialist

Other returners for the Terps include juniors Fiona DeFreitas, Kathy Shahrokh and Lauren Wilson. All are former prep stars from the state of Maryland, and are joined in the back row by another Marylander, freshman Carrie Lagler.

DeFreitas appeared in 58 games last season and is easily the most experienced of the group. Wilson saw action in just eight games while Shahrokh earned a redshirt. The trio split limited backcourt time as freshmen in 2000.

Says Kruger, "Fiona is a very strong and determined defensive player. She can frustrate the best of hitters with her digging ability."

"All three of our returning defensive players are extremely quick and agile. They have all worked and trained extremely hard the last couple of years improving their technique and backcourt skills with regard to passing and digging. Our back row defense will be important to our team's success. As our block continues to improve, we will need our serve receive and ball control to be one of our team strengths."



Amanda Ayres

Analysis

A setter, two hitters and a middle blocker return to the Terrapin starting lineup – with seven years of starting experience among them. And so with an experienced starting lineup already in place, newcomer contributions need not be immediate, nor extensive.

Two-time ACC coach of the year Janice Kruger will hope for quick development to aid Amanda Ayres at middle blocker, and with any luck, Maryland may find itself back in the race for an ACC title.

Kruger's assessment: "Our serving will be as good as any team in the ACC, and our offensive balance will allow us to mix up our attack. We have the necessary defensive skills to create problems for opposing offenses. If we control the ball and steadily improve our block, I am very optimistic about this team's success."

Head Coach Janice Kruger

15th Season at Maryland

25th Season Overall

Nebraska 1977

One of the top coaches in the ACC and the entire country, Janice Kruger is set to embark on her 15th season as head coach of the Maryland Terrapins. Kruger has built a powerful program in College Park that includes the 1990 and 1996 ACC titles and trips to the NCAA Tournament in 1990, 1995, 1996 and 1997. Kruger's success has not gone without notice, as she has been named both the ACC and the District III Coach of the Year in 1990, 1996 and 1997. During her coaching career, Kruger has amassed an amazing 634-281-6 (.692) mark including a stellar 259-176 (.595) record in College Park.

With her impressive track record at both Maryland and Nebraska-Omaha, Kruger is considered one of the elite coaches in the country. She ranks 10th all-time among current coaches in terms of victories as a four-year college head coach (611) and her career winning percentage of .691 in NCAA matches is 26th among active coaches.

In the ACC, Kruger has built an impressive resume that proves she is one of the conference's best-ever coaches. Among active ACC coaches, Kruger is the winningest with 634 career victories. Kruger is third all-time in victories at an ACC school with her 259 wins at Maryland.

Milestones have been a big part of Kruger's tenure at Maryland, especially over the past few years. In 2001, Kruger led Maryland to its 700th win as a volleyball program on Oct. 7 in a 3-1 victory over NC State at Ritchie Coliseum. In 31 seasons of volleyball at Maryland, just two coaches, Kruger and Barb Drum, have guided the Terrapins to a remarkable record of 716-402 (.640).

In 1996, Kruger's Terps became the first ACC team to finish a conference schedule 16-0. Maryland closed out that magical season by winning the ACC title for the first time in six years. One year later, Kruger led Maryland to an even more impressive feat, as the Terps completed the 1997 regular season with an overall record of 25-0. In the process, Maryland became just the eighth team in the nation to roll through a regular season without a defeat. The Terps closed out that historic year by reaching the NCAA Tournament for the third consecutive year.

Under Kruger's guidance, many players have flourished in the Maryland program. In 1997, Eden Kroeger became the first Terp to earn All-America honors. That same year, Kroeger also became the third player during Kruger's tenure to earn ACC Player of the Year honors (Colleen Hurley in 1990 and Daune Koester in 1992 were the others). Since Kruger came to Maryland in 1988, the Terps have also had 23 All-ACC selections and 11 All-District III selections.

What has made Kruger's program at Maryland all the more impressive is the emphasis put on academic excellence. Since 1988, 38 players have been named to the ACC Honor Roll at least once during their careers at Maryland, including Hurley, Koester and Kroeger. In three of the last five seasons, a Maryland volleyball player has received the prestigious Weaver-James-Corrigan Scholar Athlete-Award from the Atlantic Coast Conference. Shannon Saltzman earned the award in 1997, Eden Kroeger was honored in 1998, and Beth Murphy earned the impressive award in 1999. On the national level, Kroeger and Nicole Lantagne (1995) have earned GTE Academic All-America honors, while Saltzman has been named both a USA All-American Scholar and a Collegiate All-American Scholar.

Prior to her arrival at Maryland, Kruger was the head coach at Nebraska-Omaha from 1979-87. In her nine seasons, she attained a sparkling record of 352-96-6 (.783) and led her squad to NCAA Division II Final Four appearances in 1983, 1985, 1986, and 1987, as well as five consecutive North Central Conference championships from 1983-87. Twice during her career at Nebraska-Omaha, Kruger was named the AVCA Division II National Coach of the Year (1983 and 1986).

Kruger earned her bachelor's degree in 1977 from the University of Nebraska, where she was a four-year letterwinner and captain on the Husker volleyball team. The following year, she earned her master's degree in athletic administration from Nebraska.

In 1978, Kruger took over as head coach at Platte Technical Community College in Columbus, Neb., where she led her team to a 23-9 record and a spot in the national junior college tournament. One year later, she became the head coach at Nebraska-Omaha. Nine years after that, she succeeded Barb Drum as the head coach at Maryland.

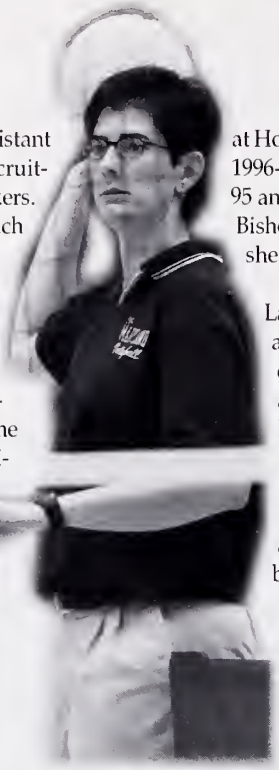
Louisiana State 1994



Jennifer LaGrange is in her third season as an assistant coach at Maryland. She is in charge of coordinating recruiting and team travel as well as training the middle blockers. LaGrange has managed stellar recruiting classes in each of her two seasons at Maryland.

Before arriving at Maryland, LaGrange coached at Southwest Texas State University, where she was the first assistant from 1997-99. During her three years at SWT, she helped lead the Bobcats to a 63-35 (.643) record, a Southland Conference Tournament championship in 1998 and an NCAA Tournament bid that same year. Specifically, LaGrange was the recruiting coordinator at Southwest Texas and coached the middle blockers and setters.

Prior to Southwest Texas, LaGrange was a volleyball and softball coach and taught English at Homewood High School in Birmingham, Ala., during the 1996-97 academic year. The previous two school years (1994-95 and 1995-96), LaGrange had the same responsibilities at Bishop Sullivan High School in Baton Rouge, La. In 1995, she was named the District 6 Volleyball Coach of the Year.

A 1994 graduate of Louisiana State University, LaGrange was a four-year letterwinner with the Tigers at the middle blocker position. LSU won the Southeastern Conference title three times during her career and advanced to the NCAA Final Four in 1990, which was held at Maryland, and 1991.

LaGrange has coached numerous summer camps throughout the nation and is currently certified (Level One) in the AVCA Coaches' Accreditation Program. She also holds membership in the AVCA and USA Volleyball.

Lindsay Davey 9

Setter
Aurora, Colo.
Cherry Creek High School (Front Range)
5-8 • Senior • 3V

On Davey

Returns for her third season as the starter at the setter position for the Terps ... fourth-year athlete who should compete for All-ACC honors ... excellent leader on the court who has shown steady progress as the Terps' floor leader ... boasts 2,753 career assists entering her senior campaign, and is poised to move among the top three assist-makers in Terrapin history ... could become the first All-ACC setter at Maryland since another former Cherry Creek High School product (suburban Denver, Colo.), following in the path of Eden Kroeger (1996 & 1997) ... tremendous passer who also plays outstanding defense ... has played in each of 87 matches in her career, and played in 99 of 101 of Maryland's games in 2001.

Kruger on Davey

"I think that Lindsay has positioned herself to be one of the league's top setters. Her individual technique improvement – – and understanding the players that she is setting to, and how to best highlight their strengths and minimize their weaknesses – is what should set her senior season apart from her first three years. I think she is poised to be absolutely at her very best. She's setting the ball very well. The strategy is there. It will take this preseason to fine-tune the connections with our newer players and get them into our offense. She's in a position to really have an impact. She's a strong, determined competitor who wants to win. She has the experience of running our offensive system, combining the fast tempo and rhythm of a sound combination attack. She understands her role as the playmaker for the team. Lindsay's ability to strategize on her feet will be an important factor as we compete in the tough ACC schedule."

Stephanie Doiron 7

Outside Hitter/Defensive Specialist
Windsor, Ontario
F.J. Brennan High School (Riverside)
5-11 • Freshman • HS

On Doiron

Incoming freshman student-athlete whose all-around abilities should earn her playing time in her first college season ... should split time at either outside hitter or in the back row ... enjoyed an extensive club and prep career in Canada.

Kruger on Doiron

"I look for Stephanie to contribute in some fashion for us this year. I like her passing and defensive ability. She is a strong hitter. Stephanie's game is similar to Sarah Treadwell's. She has good ball control skills and a tough jump serve. I can see us being able to incorporate her jump serve into our system. One of the things that coaches and players usually say about her is that 'she always finds a way to get into the lineup.' Whether it is her teamwork, or her on-court presence, there is always something that makes her really valuable. She does everything fairly well. In the game of volleyball, you want to make very few errors and Stephanie is one of those people who can do a lot of things well."

Before Maryland

Graduated from F.J. Brennan Catholic High School in 2002 ... helped lead her team to a 31-5 record as a senior ... was named first team all-league as her team's captain ...earned first team all-league accolades in each of her final three prep seasons ... also captained her team with Riverside Volleyball Club as a senior, and with Northshore Volleyball Club as a junior ... played on the 2001 Ontario Women's Provincial team that won the silver medal in the Canada Games ... a member of the Canadian Youth National Volleyball team as a sophomore in 2000 ... also threw the javelin over 40 meters while participating in track & field ... broke the javelin record at the Kennedy Relays, placed second in the Windsor city championships and third in Southwest Ontario ... also played basketball and was named F.J. Jenny Dunn 15

Middle Blocker
Peachtree City, Ga.
McIntosh High School (South Atlanta)
6-3 • Freshman • HS

On Dunn

Athletically-gifted middle blocker who should help raise Maryland's level of play at middle blocker during her college tenure ... needs to continue refining her volleyball skills while competing for playing time this season with Rachel Wagener and Stephanie Smith.

Kruger on Dunn

"Jenny Dunn is 6-3 and she jumps well. She touches the rim. I expect her to be very similar to Stephanie Smith. She has to be taught and be developed into a more precise volleyball player. She will be nurtured to develop her techniques and habits. She will become a very good player, just because of her ability to play so high. She is very impressive because of her jumping ability and her speed. She can really impact our program down the road. I'd love it for her to excel really early in her career. We're a little undersized and she could really help improve our block. She plays really high."

Before Maryland

Graduated from McIntosh High School in 2002 ... helped lead her team to a regional championship and a bid in the State 5A Final Four ... guided her team to a 33-11 record as a senior ... played two years with the South Atlanta Volleyball Association (15s & 17s), and one with the North Atlanta Volleyball Association (18s).

On Lagler

Local walk-on player who could log minutes in the back court as a true freshman ... dedicated prep star who led Gaithersburg High to back-to-back state tournament berths ... all-around, athletic player whose role with the Terps will continue to develop through her career.

Kruger on Lagler

"Carrie is a good athlete and a very smart player. She's played a lot of club volleyball and loves the game. She is determined to get better and cherishes the opportunity to play at this level. She has potential to help this team with serve receive and pass defense."

Kruger on Smith

"Stephanie Smith has improved her game in all aspects this past season. During her redshirt year, she developed her attack and block. Stephanie has a natural instinct for blocking. She has made big strides in the weight room and on the court and we will look to Stephanie to gain valuable experience this season. Stephanie has a great attitude. She is determined and tireless in her quest to become the best volleyball player that she can be. Stephanie is still a young player who will continue to get better with match experience."

Terps' most heralded recruit ... will compete with Stephanie Smith for a starting blocker position early in her freshman year.

Kruger on Wagener

"Just Rachel's stature is such a tremendous asset for us. Her presence is known. She moves well, she's a competitor and she has a strong will to develop and to learn. Her presence on the court, just because of her size, helps her to both block and attack aggressively. We will work on the development of her speed, but she is a very powerful player. She has the versatility to really hit in all three positions across the net. She can score and should play significant time during her first season."

Ritchie Coliseum

Since midway through the 1997 season, Ritchie Coliseum has brought Maryland volleyball enthusiasts and visiting fans excitement at its ultimate. It immediately proved to be a friend of the Terrapins as Maryland compiled a 9-0 record on its home court during the building's first year of operation. That mark began on Sept. 30, 1997, when the Terrapins moved from Cole Field House and quickly notched their first win in the newly remodeled arena, defeating James Madison, 15-1, 15-6, 15-12.

With the construction though of the University's new Comcast Center, the 2002 season will be Maryland's last at Ritchie Coliseum. The Terps will make their new home at Comcast Center beginning with the 2003 season.

Maryland fans witnessed history at Ritchie Coliseum when the Terps won their 700th victory as a program Oct. 7, 2001 against NC State. In just over four seasons at Ritchie, the Terps have won over 60 percent of their games with an impressive 37-24 mark.

Maryland fans have poured into Ritchie in increasing numbers throughout the past two seasons. Its official seating capacity is 1,500, with seating located around the court, including directly behind the team benches, and seat-back chairs for more comfortable viewing located in the upper bowl of the coliseum. Fans have the option of just sitting back and relaxing, or for those who prefer floor seating, the reverberations of the players pounding on the floor make the excitement all that much more intense.

Originally built in 1931, Ritchie Coliseum joined campus landmarks such as Rossborough Inn and Turner Dairy on Route 1 in downtown College Park. The gymnasium joined the then-nine-year-old 5,000-seat Byrd Stadium, as the prime athletic facilities more than 65 years ago.

University Of Volleyball

"Strive for clarity, but accept and understand ambiguity."

That phrase captures one way in which an educated person approaches the world and its challenges. Students who graduate from the University of Maryland have been exposed to the tools that allow them to put that perspective to work. Imparting such a perspective may be an ambitious project for undergraduate education, but to aim for anything less would be unworthy of a great university's goals for its students. Fourteen years ago, Promises to Keep, a plan for undergraduate education at Maryland, articulated those goals so eloquently we repeat them here.

Undergraduate education at Maryland "aims to provide students with a sense of identity and purpose, a concern for others, a sense of responsibility for the quality of life around them, a continuing eagerness for knowledge and understanding, and a foundation for a lifetime of personal enrichment."

As we learn with and from one another, we try to "develop human values," "celebrate tolerance and fairness," "contribute to the social conscience," "monitor and assess private and collective assumptions," and "recognize the glory, tragedy and humor of the human condition." Your years at the University of Maryland can provide you with all the tools you need to accomplish these goals. Students here are "educated to be able to read with perception and pleasure, write and speak with clarity and verve, handle numbers and computation proficiently, reason mathematically, generate clear questions and find probable arguments, reach substantiated conclusions, and accept ambiguity."

And we also hope you enjoy the journey.

About the University

The Campus

By virtually every measure of quality, the University of Maryland has gained national recognition as one of the fastest rising comprehensive research institutions in the country. The momentum of recent years has poised the university to move it into the top ranks of higher education and take leadership in shaping the research university of the 21st century.

The university has enjoyed a decade of momentum in all of the areas that affect quality, beginning with the quality of our students. For more than 10 years, every freshman class has been the most talented in the university's history, including this year's. Not only are their grade-point averages and SAT scores stellar, about half of them finished in the top 10 percent of their high school graduating class.

But Maryland students excel in more ways than just the classroom. They are leaders in the arts and culture, community service, civic engagement and athletics.

What's more, the student body is a model of diversity, with minorities making up more than 32 percent of all students, and at least one graduate and undergraduate student from every state in the nation.

The university has 65 graduate and undergraduate programs ranked in the Top 25 by U.S. News and World Report, up from just one program in 1991.

Sponsored research and outreach has nearly tripled in the same 10-year period, reaching $308.5 million for FY 01. Private giving has increased even more dramatically, from $17 million to $77 million in FY01. Alumni Association membership has been growing at an average rate of 10 percent a year since 1992.

One of the largest research universities in the United States, current enrollment stands at 25,099 undergraduate and 9,061 graduate. There are 94 undergraduate programs, 89 master's programs, 70 doctoral programs, and one first professional degree program. More than 100 centers and institutes are engaged in research and outreach.

Faculty at the University of Maryland, in all fields of knowledge, are engaged at the highest levels of national and international concern. The university's location near the center of federal policy-making and international political and economic activity enables it to play an active role in research and analysis of public policy.

Maryland is one of 30 public universities in the prestigious 63-member Association of American Universities and the only public institution in the Maryland-D.C. area with membership in the nation's most distinguished honor society, Phi Beta Kappa.

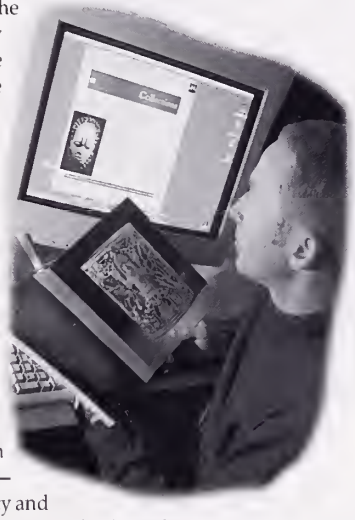
Libraries

Seven libraries make up the University of Maryland library system: McKeldin (main) Library, Architecture Library, Art Library, Engineering and Physical Sciences Library, Hornbake Library, Performing Arts Library, White Memorial (Chemistry) Library.

These libraries constitute the largest university research library institution in the Washington metropolitan area, providing vital resources to researchers, visiting scholars, and businesses throughout the region. The libraries' holdings include more than 2.5 million volumes, 24,000 subscriptions to periodicals and nearly 5 million items available in microfilm format.

Research

Opportunities for conducting research abound at the University of Maryland, College Park, and in the surrounding area, both for faculty to advance their own expertise and bring their insights into the classroom, and for students to begin their exploration of their special interests with practical experience. On campus, special facilities and a number of organized research centers, bureaus, and institutes promote the acquisition and analysis of new knowledge in the arts, sciences and applied fields.



The university's enviable location – just nine miles from downtown Washington, D.C., and approximately 30 miles from both Baltimore and Annapolis – enhances the research of its faculty and students by providing access to some of the finest libraries and research centers in the country.

Service

Programs of public service are central to the overall mission of the university. The philosophy is reflected in the wide array of programs and initiatives that benefit the state's business, agriculture and education communities.

With more than 90 high technology firms in the three-county area of Montgomery, Prince George's and Frederick counties, the university has found abundant opportunity to extend its business and technology outreach programs to the region. Many of these programs are part of the Engineering Research Center, which operates the Technology Advancement Program and the Maryland Industrial Partnerships, programs designed to provide Maryland entrepreneurs and small businesses with research facilities, technical assistance, administrative support, and access to technology that will advance their economic base.

The Institute for Systems Research has formed partnerships with major corporations, including Lockheed Martin, Westinghouse, BF Goodrich, Hughes Aircraft and Dupont to apply advanced systems research to solving industry problems in the fields of communications, manufacturing, controls and robotics.

The university last year opened the Clarice Smith Performing Arts Center, with its six state-of-the art performance halls, which has quickly become a center of cultural programming in the Washington metropolitan area. The university also boasts four art galleries and a broad range of public art throughout the beautiful campus. Additionally intercollegiate, club and intramural sports provide students of all levels an opportunity to participate as spectators or athletes.

University President

C.D. Mote Jr.

Fifth year at Maryland
California 1959

When C.D. "Dan" Mote Jr. became the 19th president of the University of Maryland on Sept. 1, 1998 he proclaimed it a university "on the move." Four years later, under his guidance, Maryland continues to move – at an ever accelerating rate – on the field, in the classroom, in the community, and in the world.

The University of Maryland is the state of Maryland's most important asset, says Mote: "The future of the state depends on this university."

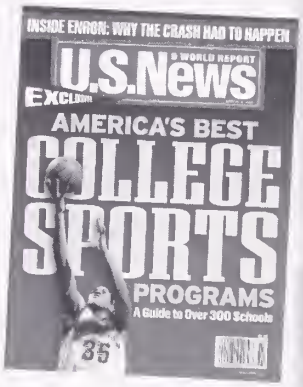
Fulfilling that responsibility is a big job, but it's a role that Mote is accustomed to, having spent his entire academic career at the University of California at Berkeley, where he earned all his degrees, taught engineering and eventually became vice chancellor for University Relations before coming to Maryland.

One of Mote's first tasks here was to serve on a governor's task force to examine the funding and organization of the University System of Maryland. The task force recommended, and the General Assembly enacted into law, a reaffirmation of the university's flagship status and a commitment to funding at levels comparable to the best public universities in the nation.

As president, Mote is committed to making that asset even greater by creating a culture of excellence and civility across the campus, continuing to emphasize the highest quality education for students, strengthening the university's internal and external connections, and achieving distinction as an institution where discovery takes place every day and everywhere.

The university's progress in each of these areas can be measured by the quality of its programs; the stature of its faculty; the talent of its students; partnerships with business; impact on the state's economy; its ability to apply discoveries to global, national and regional problems; and its world-class, state-of-the-art facilities.

Quality Programs



Over the past decade, Maryland's programs have been improving by leaps and bounds. We currently have 65 graduate and undergraduate programs ranked in the top 25 nationally by U.S. News & World Report, compared with just one program a decade ago.

While the university's academic successes are across the board, it has emerged as a true powerhouse in business, computer science, earth sciences, engineering, education and journalism. The Robert H. Smith School of Business has achieved top 10 rankings from such beacon publications as the Financial Times of London and the Wall Street Journal. Every department in the College of Education has programs ranked in the U.S. News top 25, and the Counseling and Personnel Services Program has long been ranked tops in the nation.

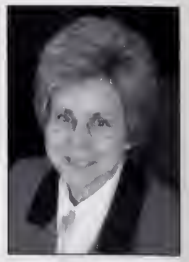
Faculty Stature

With the addition during Mote's third year of a Nobel Laureate in Physics and three more Pulitzer Prize winners (to join three already on the faculty), Maryland continues to attract the best faculty available. More than 30 faculty are members of the national academies in their fields, the highest professional recognition attainable.

Experts on the Maryland faculty are regularly sought by the news media for their views on a wide variety of issues, including politics, international affairs, social trends, economics, the environment, science and technology.

Director of Athletics

Deborah A. Yow



Ninth year at Maryland
Elon 1974

Deborah A. Yow is in the ninth year of her outstanding tenure as director of athletics at the University of Maryland, a year that has seen unprecedented success and achievement in Maryland athletics. Each year has brought about continued improvement and accomplishment in Terrapin athletics. In Yow's eight years at Maryland, the Terrapins have won a remarkable nine NCAA national championships as Maryland athletics has soared to new heights.

The comprehensive success of Terrapin athletics under Debbie Yow's leadership is a clear and compelling testimony of her values of excellence, teamwork and accountability. Likewise, her election to the presidency of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics two years ago is an indication of the respect with which she is regarded among its 6,100 members representing 1,600 colleges in the U.S. and Canada. She was recently singled out by Street and Smith Sports Business Journal as one of the leading administrators in the U.S. and she received the Carl Maddox Sport Management Award presented by the United States Sports Academy for excellence in athletics administration.

Yow, who recently served on the NCAA Management Council and the NCAA Division I Budget Committee, is a strong and steady voice on behalf of intercollegiate athletics in America. Since taking over as AD at Maryland in 1994, she and her staff have:

- Transformed Terrapin athletics into a responsive, goal-oriented organization.
- Balanced all eight of the annual department's budgets (the first balanced budgets in the 10 years prior to her arrival). The budget has now reached $40 million annually and the sizable prior operative debts have been eradicated.
- Greatly enhanced the academic support services provided for student-athletes, with an enviable exhausted eligibility graduation rate of approximately 85 percent.
- Led the Terrapins to a national all-sports ranking in the upper 15 percent of all NCAA Division I institutions.
- Significantly expanded marketing and fund-raising efforts on behalf of Terrapin athletics. As a result, private gifts to athletics have increased 240 percent and corporate sponsorship revenues have increased by 275 percent during her tenure at Maryland.
- Continued to dramatically improve venues and facilities for the department's 25 teams.
- Implemented a strategic management model.
- Developed a comprehensive Internet strategy with management, marketing and fund-raising applications.
- Significantly improved customer care in every area.

The most recent achievements of Maryland athletics are exceptional:

- Selected in 2002 by U.S. News & World Report as one of the Top 20 athletic programs in the nation (for overall quality and competitive excellence).
- In football, won the Atlantic Coast Conference championship and played in the 2002 Orange Bowl. In men's basketball, won the ACC regular season in 2002, as well as the NCAA national championship. The Terps are among only a few NCAA institutions to have achieved at this distinguished level in these sports in the same year.
- Hired the Associated Press National Coach of the Year, Brenda Frese, as the new women's basketball coach.
- Hired Dave Cottle, the third winningest active men's lacrosse coach in the U.S.
- Field hockey played for the national championship.
- Women's lacrosse has continued its winning ways and has won seven consecutive national championships through 2001.
- Enhancing football facilities significantly with Team House and practice field upgrades.
- Moved into the new $125 million Comcast Center.
- The athletics budget was balanced for the eighth consecutive year.
- In 2001-02 10 Maryland teams competed in NCAA postseason play.
- The productivity, morale, and the competitive and academic achievement of Terrapin athletics are exceptional and continue to gain momentum.

Regarding the many achievements of Terrapin athletics over the past eight years, Yow says, "We are pleased, but we are not satisfied ... our vision is to be one of the top 10 programs in the nation consistently ... we see no reason to settle for less."

Yow is known for her goal-oriented and proactive management style. She consistently inspires and challenges those around her to "raise our sights and sharpen our tools ... to work hard and work smart ... to recognize that our only limitations are those that we place upon ourselves."

As a manager and a leader, she clearly models these principles. She is the only known current AD in NCAA Division I who has hired both the National Coach of the Year in football (while at Maryland) and the National Coach of the Year in men's basketball (while at Saint Louis University). Yow is known as "a coach's AD," while also being a highly organized, strategic and proactive leader and administrator. Quite simply, Debbie Yow personifies the relational and management dynamics that are necessary to be an excellent administrator.

A successful former coach at the University of Kentucky and at the University of Florida, she moved into athletics administration at the University of Florida and the University of North Carolina, Greensboro, followed by a highly successful tenure as AD at Saint Louis University.

She has authored numerous articles and books on athletics management and human behavior, and is a respected leader in intercollegiate athletics in the United States.

Summing up the entire athletics program, Dr. Yow recently observed, "We have the finest student-athletes, coaches, support staff and administrative team in America. It is because of their courage, hard work and cooperative spirit that we now have a strong, viable athletic program. I am immensely proud of each of them. I am equally proud of our Terrapin fans who buy tickets, our Terrapin Club members who faithfully support the Maryland athletic program with their donations for scholarship, and the Maryland Educational Foundation and M Club members who serve and give liberally. We have a great Terrapin family. That's the foundation for all of our success ... and the basis for our bright future."

Academic Support & Career Dev.

The University of Maryland is committed to providing the highest quality education to all of its students. The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics strives to provide student-athletes excellent opportunities to participate in an intercollegiate athletics program of the highest quality, with the result that their athletics participation becomes an integral and valued component of their total educational experience at the university.

Senior Associate Director Karen Schiferl

Terrapin student-athletes will find that the same hard work and discipline that has earned them success in athletics competition is also required in the classroom. Balancing the significant time demands and responsibilities required to be a successful student-athlete at the highest collegiate level is no small task. Therefore, as a result of their commitment to representing the university through athletics, Terrapin student-athletes are able to utilize support programs designed to meet their specific needs.

The mission of the Academic Support and Career Development Unit (ASCDU) is to provide quality developmental programs and need-based services that will enhance academic progress, facilitate career development, and encourage the psychosocial growth of all UM student-athletes.

The Gossett Academic Support and Career Development Center for Terrapin student-athletes, named for long-time Terp supporters Barry and Mary Gossett, is located in the Comcast Center. It features a study center that includes 25 desktop computers, a tutoring center, a classroom, a CHAMPS/Life Skills resource room and individual offices for six professional academic counselors, a director of enrichment programs, an assistant program coordinator and two graduate assistants. In addition, the center's extended site is located in the Gossett Football Team House, and includes office space for two professional counselors, a program assistant and a 16-station desktop computer center.

Academic courses, programs and services offered by ASCDU include the following:

- Prospective student-athlete orientation
- Academic counseling
- NCAA academic eligibility monitoring
- Academic enrichment and career development presentations and workshops
- Accredited tutorial support
- Individualized learning program
- EDCP 108-K (College learning strategies and skills)
- EDCP 108-M (Math learning strategies and skills)
- UNIV 100/101 (First-year transitions to the university)

The Staff

Nine full-time professionals, two graduate assistants, tutorial support staff and student associates comprise the unit's workforce. Senior Associate Director Karen Schiferl serves the volleyball team's academic support counselor.

Student Athlete Advisory Council

The Student-Athlete Advisory Council (S.A.A.C.) plays an important role in the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics. It consists of two representatives from each varsity sport and meets on a regular basis with representatives from the athletic administration. The S.A.A.C. mission is to enhance the total student-athlete experience by developing leadership skills, promoting student-athlete welfare and fostering a positive student-athlete image on the Maryland campus, local area and nationally.

CHAMPS Life Skills Programs

ASCDU houses the NCAA's (National Collegiate Athletic Association) Challenging Athletes' Minds for Personal Success Program (C.H.A.M.P.S.) and the NCAA Life Skills Program. The ASCDU staff, in collaboration with various other Department of Intercollegiate Athletics' units and campus resources, strives to provide a systematic personal development program designed to reach each student-athlete based on his or her individual needs. The focus of the program is on the individual academically, athletically and emotionally, and on the changing needs and skills of that individual in the years during college and after graduation. The menu of presentations, workshops and seminars is a comprehensive and balanced system of "life learning" programs promoted for use by each varsity sport team.

Highlights of the CHAMPS Life Skills Programs

- Support efforts of every student-athlete toward intellectual development and graduation
- Use athletics as preparation for success in life
- Meet the changing needs of student-athletes
- Promote respect for diversity among student-athletes
- Enhance interpersonal relationships in the lives of student-athletes
- Assist student-athletes in building positive self-esteem
- Enable student-athletes to make meaningful contributions to their communities
- Promote ownership by the student-athletes of their academic, athletic, personal and social responsibilities
- Enhance partnerships between the NCAA, member institutions and their communities for the purpose of education
- Encourage the development of leadership skills

Strength & Conditioning

Craig Fitzgerald

In the highly competitive collegiate volleyball world the off-field preparation of the student-athlete is a critical component to the on-field success of any Division I program. Dwight Galt, Maryland's director of strength and conditioning, and Craig Fitzgerald, who works with the volleyball team, believe strongly that a solid off-field training program can dramatically improve levels of performance, as well as significantly reduce the chance of injury. The benefit of performing structured strength and power training throughout the entire year has allowed the Terps to reach new levels in physical development.

At the University of Maryland, the maximal development of athleticism is the primary goal of the strength and conditioning program. To accomplish this requires more than just strength and power training in the weight room. Speed improvement, agility, flexibility, conditioning, plyometrics, and nutrition also play critical roles. The Terps' strength staff places substantial emphasis on all these areas, with special attention on the improvement of speed potential. Galt and his staff employ a wide range of state-of-the-art training methods to assist in enhancing all aspects of speed development.

The Terps are fortunate to train in one of the premier weight training facilities in the nation. Conveniently located in the Gossett Team House, this facility has excellent aesthetic appeal, with two magnificent skylights and large windows overlooking the field at Byrd Stadium. The Terps' spacious weight room includes 7,200 square feet of functional floor space, with two elevated offices.
